We have found ourselves looking closely at the world around us in the past week, as well as looking closely at some very deep and personal wounds. We do not think it's a coincidence that we seem to find the world experiencing a lot of turmoil, both geopolitically and geologically. There are some indications that our planet, and thus humans, are experiencing some very intense energies at this moment.

We know that the world, Herself, seems to be on fire! If we look around the planet, we can see that there are many fires burning, not only in the United States, but also on nearly every continent on the globe. In the description box of this video, we have included a link to NASA and a map of all the current fires raging across the planet. Some of these fires are even historic, as these areas have never experienced fires of this magnitude and/or duration in recorded history. Even Mt. Etna has had a major eruption the last few days, something Edgar Cayce and many others consider being a landmark when it comes to prophecy and the so-called "End Times." Also, Barbara Marciniak's "Pleiadians" often mentioned this event over the years as being something to look out for.

The Ring of Fire has seen as many as 214 earthquakes in the past week, with 69 of them happening in just a 48-hour period! While the Ring of Fire experiences many earthquakes each year, this recent activity bears watching due to the increase in other global events happening at the same time. Volcanic activity on the planet has also increased. While we can't say for sure if this is normal, as we typically don't pay attention to the global state of active volcanoes, we are certainly going to pay closer attention to them as we seem to be moving through what seem to be significant changes on our planet.

We don't concern ourselves too much with the state of geopolitical affairs, but even so, when we peek at what is occurring on the world political stage, we find some very concerning issues being brought to the forefront of discussion regarding our political leaders. We see a certain amount of disclosure happening, as if things that were once hidden are now being exposed for the world to examine and determine the best course forward. This is happening on the entertainment stage, as well. We are seeing questionable behaviors from entertainers and those people whom we have always depended upon to provide us with entertainment in television, movies, and music being called to answer for very disturbing behaviors that seem to prove all the rumors of nefarious activity in these arenas being exposed. Is the veil being lifted? Are we getting a peek at the underbelly of what has dominated these institutions behind closed doors?

What about personal experiences? Just as things seem to be in turmoil around the planet in all these areas, we can also expect that we will be experiencing some of these same things as we move forward with our processes of healing those things that we would rather remain hidden inside ourselves. We, personally, have experienced some very deep and profound healing in the past week. This has caused us to take a few days off from making videos as we seemed to have been thrust into a period of deep self-reflection and healing wounds that we could not ignore, regardless of how hard we tried. Recently, we were thrust into a “dark night of the soul” journey, both individually and together, that we found unable to move past until these issues were confronted, experienced, and finally integrated. We, personally, have never felt such turmoil and pain as we were forced to deal with issues that seemed to reside at the very core of our being. We felt as if we were turned inside-out, and all the things we were afraid to look at were laid bare in front of us to be considered.

What we discovered is that we ultimately were dealing with the ego and the long-held beliefs about ourselves that have been the driving force behind so much pain and unhappiness that we have experienced in this life. Once we were made aware of these old ways of thinking that we did not realize were hurting us and stopping us from moving forward, we reached a place of acceptance and the storm finally broke. What was on the other side of this was a beautiful, calm, and loving state of being. While we experienced this event at the same time, it was very much an individual process for each of us, and we had to confront these issues separately. What an immensely painful, and yet rewarding experience!

If we find ourselves going through very difficult times right now, consider that we are being encouraged and given the opportunity to heal and confront wounds that may be very deep. These would be things that we have not been willing to face in the past. These are the painful things that we are reluctant to delve into because they are at the core of our being. There seems to be a lot of encouragement from the powerful energies, right now, to dissolve more and more of the ego. Be aware that any healing we do that threatens the ego can feel very painful. Our ego will hang on to its existence by the teeth and this can be a very difficult process to move through. We want to offer encouragement and knowing that on the other side of these painful integrations is a profound calm and joy that only exists once you have confronted these very dark aspects of the self. When we talk about core wounds and ego, we are talking about belief systems and programming that may have existed inside each one of us for as long as we can remember. We think that these beliefs and these ideals that we hold dear to our hearts are US. We may be shocked to discover they are not. If you are being encouraged to confront some of these long-held beliefs, have a close and honest examination of them and see if these things may be things that you need to let go.

What ultimately occurred for us felt like a huge purging and wonderful cleansing. As the Earth is going through Her own turmoil and upheaval right now, it seems to be no coincidence that we, humans, are undergoing our own individual turmoil and upheavals. We are connected to our planet, as we all know, and what affects Her can also be expected to affect us.

Things that seemed to be held in check on this planet seem to be in chaos now. We wonder if the control system that used to be in place here has been changed. There seem to be indications that some of the controlling factors that were in place on our planet are no longer present and holding things in check. We know that Marduk/Satan has been in control of the underbelly of all the evil in this world for millennia. We have encountered some information from a few different sources recently that seem to suggest he has been removed. We cannot know for sure, of course, but we are open to the possibility as we see these changes taking place. We do not know what the consequences of this will be, but if personal experience can be an indicator, we would expect that there will be chaos until issues are dealt with, cleansed, and integrated. On the other side of this process appears to be a wonderful peace, clarity, and loving environment that humans have been long over-due to experience.

We can't say, for sure, if big changes are taking place. We can say, however, that we FEEL things changing and when we look around us, it certainly SEEMS like things are changing. If you find yourself going through some difficult things now, try to hold on and ride through them, knowing that you are being encouraged to heal yourself and let go of the things you have been holding inside that do not benefit you. We also want you to know that we know how you feel! We know it's not easy! We know that you may be feeling the lowest of lows! We would like to reassure you that if you allow yourself to move through this process without resisting, let your pain come out, allow yourself to feel the pain and disappointment that you have been holding on to for so long about whatever it may be, you will find a peace and love for yourself on the other side that you never knew was hiding under all the heavy burdens you had placed on top of yourself.

As you look at the world around you, see that the entire planet seems to be undergoing the same type of exposure, purging, and healing that is necessary during this peculiar time we find ourselves moving through. Very wonderful things are in store for us, if we can take what have been our personal experiences and apply them to the collective of humanity and the planet. The Universe seems to be encouraging us to heal ourselves, and like it or not, move forward with these changes so that something new can be experienced. If you are witnessing changes in your perceptions, changes in your relationships, changes in your physical environment that are causing you to be confused, in chaos, or disbelief about things you have long held as truths, consider that you are being encouraged to experience your own personal upheaval and catalyst for internal reformation, just as we see going on externally in the world around us. As within, so without.
