Hi! I am Wes Penre...It may take a little while before we can continue our current video series—so much to take into consideration, but we'll keep you updated on how it's going. We keep getting many good questions in our email, so we'll do a Q&A session for now. Feel free to email more questions at wespenreproductions@gmail.com. Here we go:

QUESTION 1: My loved one and I are both awakening with your knowledge and research. In times past, we've agreed that when one of us experiences physical death, we've promised to let the other know we're okay with a sign. However, our new understanding with regard to your work, is that one should just focus on getting past the grid without delay. Do you think it would still be possible to send such a sign from outside the matrix, maybe a strong telepathic sign if not a physical one?

ANSWER: We don't see why this would be impossible. You are both humans, and you are not bound by the restriction of non-interference in the same way as outside star races are. If you agree to show each other a sign, we don't believe anybody would have a problem with that. We can't promise 100 percent, but it makes sense that you could.

QUESTION 2: When we think about a beloved from the past, with lots of love and affection, are we in some sense re-creating them and adding unnecessary weight to our own reality? Does it depend on intensity of thought and does this activity of the emotional body affect our physical and energy body?

ANSWER: In a sense, we do “recreate” them in the astral dimension—we create the thought form, which in another sense can get its “own life.” That could potentially add some extra weight. It’s nothing wrong with missing a beloved and thinking about him or her in a loving and affectionate way, but if it becomes an obsession, it might be a good idea to get some help releasing grief and abandonment anxiety, or whatever lies at the bottom of it.

QUESTION 3: Because Enki is the father of Marduk, and if Jesus was an incarnation of Enki, then who is the father Jesus prayed to in the Garden of Gethsemane, or when Jesus said, “In my father’s house are many mansions,” etc? Was this just allegorical? Also, from your research, if this part did occur, then did the crucifixion happen, or was it allegorical or even an AIF projection?

ANSWER: The Gnostic texts have their own interpretation of these events, teaching that there is a Divine Father and Mother and their son, Christ, all residing in the Divine Pleroma. Thus, to the Gnostics, Jesus was of the “Divine Realms” and thus, resides outside the Matrix, and even the KHAA. Our research is telling us something different. Jesus was Thoth, En.ki’s “son,” or rather, another aspect of En.ki on a “soul level.” To understand this, we would need to understand how a soul (in this case En.ki) can split himself in different soul splinters, where each one becomes his own “individual,” incarnated on Earth. Therefore, Thoth/Jesus was praying to En.ki. The mansions he was talking about most likely refer to the Seven Heavens, which are the seven layers of the Earth Construct. Some refer to them as seven Superdomains or dimensions. We don’t believe the crucifixion was real in the sense we have been taught. It was perhaps more of a dramatic effect that was added, so Jesus could play the role of taking the sins of mankind on his shoulders. Or, someone else was crucified instead of Thoth.

QUESTION 4: How could the truth about the divine feminine infiltrate the matrix (the flat earth) if this is a closed system that does not let other beings interact with it, except the insiders (I am RA, Ashtar command, bashar, etc.)?

No events related to divine feminine's experiment were started on Flat Earth, so how do we know about it?

It may be that we know nothing about things outside of flat earth, but all we know has been under Enki's approval, so, then could the ancient text contain more disinformation than we think we sieved off to find truth?

ANSWER: The truth about the Divine Feminine origins are told in most ancient texts. This Matrix did not get enclosed right away after its construction. The Grid and the quarantine came later, so old civilizations could leave clues behind. So, there were still groups that subscribed to the Divine Feminine in the beginning of time in this construct. The texts are a mix of truths and biases, but the Overlords had to leave some records behind, as they felt obligated to follow the law of freewill (although they have broken it quite often since then, in our opinion). The clues are in the texts, if we learn to read them correctly. In addition to that, I have had sources that are “not from here.” They are from outside the Construct. They are here for a special reason that we can't, and are not allowed, to reveal.

QUESTION 5: I would like your opinion on why a certain percentage of people who die, are directed by loved ones or so-called spirits, to go back because it is not 'their' time yet?

What would be the point of re-directing them to return? Have they run out of souls to recycle?

Also, on a personal note, I would like your opinion on an incident which took place back in 2012; I awoke with a solid stream of brilliant bright light exiting my left-eye which headed straight out the bedroom window; the pain was excruciating, leaving me blinded in that eye for a good 5 minutes before vision was restored. Can you please offer some explanation of what occurred on that particular morning. Was it a walk-in leaving? Or was it something else.

ANSWER: Some people are told to return because they are most likely “on a mission” that was set up in the Between Lives Area (BLA). Most souls get recycled quite instantly, but some are needed to complete something on behalf of the Overlord. It could be as simple as the Overlords wanting them to return to speak of their near-death experience and how “wonderful” it felt. Others return to speak of a hellish experience. The Overlords are all about duality and polarity. If they present one side of the story, the other side of the story usually needs to be told, as well. It’s just more fear, control, and contradictions to keep people confused and in fear. Regarding your personal experience, we’re sorry to say that we really don’t know.

QUESTION 6: There seem to be special individuals who pop up in areas which supposedly are rich in spiritual energy, such as rural China and places like Tibet. Children who have supernatural abilities such as psychokinesis etc. Is it random circumstance that they are born with these unnatural abilities? Are they even human to begin with?

ANSWER: Some of them could be humans who have been equipped with these abilities in the BLA for a purpose (see previous question/answer), others could be outside souls that have been trapped here, others could be souls that have actually “evolved” through the ages, while others could be programs. We believe all the above exist.

QUESTION 7: You’ve mentioned that, to exit the matrix after the death of the body, we are made to believe that we are given only two options (the Enlil’s option and the Marduck’s option), and that in truth we have another option which is to not resist and focus to a “black kind of exit”. I’m paraphrasing. So what if the AIF tricks us again by creating, with their technology such trap of a black exit?

ANSWER: Technology-wise, they would be capable of doing that, but it’s highly unlikely that they would. There is too much at stake for them to do something like that at this time when their own feet are held to the fire. They might lose the souls that exit through the Grid, but the loss is not worth the potential cost. Good question, by the way. Just to avoid misunderstandings, the option you’re talking about would be between Mar-duck (I like that) and En.ki, not En.lil. But in the bigger scheme of things, they are just the same oppressive force anyway.

QUESTION 8: I also have realized the ultimate source of existence to be best described as feminine in nature. That being said, what led you to your conclusion in regard to Ninurta being chosen as successor for the throne of Orion in the details of this universe's current story of royal lineage? How come not a daughter?

ANSWER: The inheritance is written about in most ancient texts. However, Ninurta will not be the successor of the Queen but of her consort, Khan En.lil, if something should happen to him.

QUESTION 9: In the astral, if a Spirit or soul/spirit/mind were to encounter a malevolent being that wields a devastating weapon that can shatter the Avatar into pieces, will the Spirit truly live on or is that the end? Is it the personality destroyed but the Spirit lives on or are both annihilated?

ANSWER: The soul, which is made of energy, would be destroyed, and with that also what you consider being your “personality,” which is not you. The personality is formed from the experiences you’ve had in this lifetime. If you would reincarnate, you would build a completely new personality, based upon the new life circumstances. The Spirit is not made of energy and is the true YOU. Spirit is eternal and can’t be destroyed. When you connect with your Higher Self, you connect with Spirit—the real YOU.

QUESTION 10: ...I encounter many problems, as if the matrix system is designed to give you a hard time when you try to get loose from it's tentacles. This often leaves me doubtful: Maybe I should have tried harder to stay successful where I was? Then I freeze up and don't know what to do or what action to take next. people who are living comfortably in the grid, seem to be very responsible and being rewarded for being good citizens. In their eyes I am an irresponsible individual. I still struggle with this, too worried about what others think.

ANSWER: Those who seem to do very well in their lives and fit right in have adjusted to the Matrix System, and in certain terms, they are the ones who are trapped the most. Why want to change things if they are going well, right? Increased awareness often goes hand in hand with some suffering because such souls are no longer in alignment with the manipulative and deceptive matrix reality. That can sometimes hit a person hard, but then we need to remember that it's normal under the circumstances, and that it will pass. Our current life is only temporary, and what awaits us will be so much better. Anxiety about what others think is a mechanism built into our "artificial soul," spoken about in previous videos, and that's where our fear and anxiety comes from. You will shed this artificial structure once you leave the Matrix. In the meantime, we can do our best to heal ourselves and try to overcome as much of our uncertainties and fears as possible (see our narcissism videos in the beginning of this video channel).

QUESTION 11: ... can evil human beings have evil souls? What happens to normal, non-Elite, truly evil people when they die? ... What could happen if countless potential "evil" souls escape "unhealed" or "unfiltered" to the KHAA? Would they possibly be immediately healed due to the "unbounding love" they would feel? Or would they charge around the Universe committing unspeakable crimes against all and sundry?

ANSWER: The polarity between good and evil is something that has been imprinted in us here in the Matrix. Not that star races can't do evil things, as part of their evolution, but we humans have so much baggage that we carry, such as the artificial soul construct, and our experiences form our personality. No humans had "evil souls" to begin with, but their choices, actions and reactions across the lines of time might make it look that way.

When we enter the KHAA, we take our experiences and beliefs with us. We will get a lot of reliefs, however, because we shed the artificial soul, but depending on what beliefs we have glued to ourselves, that's what we'll experience. The reason why many star races don't want humanity in the KHAA in the shape we're in as a mass consciousness is just because of this—our warlike nature. We humans have become like the Overlords in many ways, and that's not something star beings want out there. So, it might be a good option to look at ourselves and learn as much as we can. It's a choice, of course, but at least, that's what we're trying to do.
