Thank you for all the questions you have submitted! We really appreciate it! Anyone who is watching this video can send in their own questions at wespenreproductions@gmail.com. We can't guarantee that all questions will be included in upcoming Q&A videos, but we try to answer as many as we can. As usual, we have sometimes corrected smaller grammar errors and occasionally shortened the questions, but we always make sure it's never out of context. Words in brackets [] are words we've added to make some sentences more coherent. Here is the first question:

QUESTION 1: Is [the] 'emotional body' part of the artificial soul construct?

ANSWER: Yes. All the so-called “light-bodies” (including the emotional body) that people in the New Age and Spiritual Communities talk about are part of the Construct, except the original, genuine soul/avatar, who is of the KHAA. It’s our understanding that the original soul is equipped with feelings, but not with the range of emotions we’re used to. It is also our understanding that the “emotional body” was a part of us in the original Construct (Tiamaat), as well—something the Queen equipped us with while we were experiencing 3-D in that density. It was part of the Experiment. We were most likely supposed to shed that body when the Experiment was over, but the Queen wanted to see if it was useful to have this whole range of emotions that we inhabit. However, as Namlu’u, we were not meant to be stuck in emotions like we are here—we were to use them on a conscious level. En.ki, after he took over, started using the emotions against us by fragmenting us.

QUESTION 2: What is the reason for Enki to attach an artificial soul to us?

ANSWER: The artificial soul, aka the Synthetic Soul, aka the subconscious mind, was attached to us to induce trauma and stimulus-response, which means that an action from the environment triggers a response in the human being because of the distorted, fragmented parts of traumatized fire/soul energy that has been added to us. Because this part of our composite is already fragmented, it’s also hidden from us—it’s subconscious. There is no direct and persistent link between that and our genuine soul, but new trauma and reminders of previous trauma in the Synthetic soul send electric signals to the genuine soul, which triggers a response that is not conscious. It’s about control and to feed from our fears. The artificial soul was created with certain channels or portals for the release of this type of energy, called chakras.

QUESTION 3: There are trade routes in the KHAA (from what I've read). This is interesting; it also suggests there's commerce. However, if the KHAA is fluid (and I'm sure it is), can I not manifest a product, object or possession using only my intention? Wouldn't 'purchasing' as we know it be obsolete?

ANSWER: Very good thinking. We’ve never had this question before! There are some collective groups of beings who enjoy participating in such experiences, we assume, and this is part of their collective evolution. For as many different types of beings that exist, there are just as many levels of development. Not everyone in the KHAA is a being of “love and light”. There are some who enjoy competition and conflict, as well. There are those we would consider to be “evil”, based on our human experiences. This is part of their evolution of consciousness for the benefit of all. WE might not enjoy the experience of commerce because of what we have experienced here, but others who have not had our experiences may want to participate in such a collective agreement.

We humans might need some practice, as well, before we can create completely independently, but we have an advantage before many other star beings because of the way we were originally created.

QUESTION 4: What is your opinion on Lawrence R. Spencer's Matilda MacElroy's Alien interview Airl? [In the interview] they were talking about the fight between Domain expeditionary force (DEF) and [the] Old Empire. Is the Old Empire Enki's and DEF is Divine Feminine? Do you think it's true or misinformation? The reason this was raised earlier because he was a Scientologist. Please share your thoughts.

ANSWER: There are a great number of similarities between Scientology and what this supposed star-being said in the interview. In the Description Box below this video, we will include links to our forum, where we discussed this topic. There, other links are provided, where the reader can research this further to make up their own minds. Some parts of the interview quite literally cite L. Ron Hubbard's OT 3 material, which is exclusive to Scientology. Our conclusion is that the Interview contains both true information and disinformation. After all, some of Hubbard's work was spot on. We do NOT embrace Scientology, but in some respects, Hubbard was decades before his time. Interesting, too, is that the interviewer's name was MacElroy—Elroy is very similar to L. Ron (Elron), i.e. L. Ron Hubbard. Did the Alien Interview really take place? We would suggest, no.

QUESTION 5: To get rid of negative ties/energies, is it right to do rituals such [as] :- write down all the negative things on paper and burn it - or write down all the things we don't want anymore, then write down all the stuff we want to become and bury all that inside the earth on the new moon, as the new moon symbolizes new beginnings? Does that not make us prisoner of the bad stuff even more as we act by the laws of the moon and the moon belongs to the Patrix (Enki/Enlil)?

Are there other ways to get rid of negative ties/energies that we don't want in our life (such as lack of confidence) to be aligned with ourselves and manifest our own universe?

ANSWER: All these things you are mentioning are tools. They are no more powerful than your own intentions. For some, it is helpful because it gives them more confidence because they might feel that just by thinking these things is “not enough”. They want to put some power behind the intention. If it helps you to become more confident in your ability to control your life, then there is no harm in doing it. Self confidence and the KNOWING that comes with it is the REAL key to making these things happen. However you choose to achieve that state of being is up to you. If it makes you feel more “lucky” to carry a lucky charm, then carry it. It isn't the charm that is giving you the good experiences, it is your faith in knowing that they will happen which is creating them. How do we get rid of negative energies in our life? We make the intention to get rid of them and then we act accordingly when given choices that align with that intention. To use your example of self-confidence, then make the intention to be confident. You will then find yourself being presented with opportunities to choose to act confidently. When these things happen, make the appropriate choice. When you see that you CAN have confidence by proving it to yourself with your actions, you will build your KNOWING that you are confident. If you want to have self-confidence, then ACT and THINK with confidence. There is no magic method to achieving what we desire. It really is all up to us. The Universe can help by giving us opportunities to make choices that match our intention, but ultimately, WE are the ones who have to choose. Getting rid of those negative energies, like low self-esteem come from a process of discovering WHY you have low self-esteem. When you know why, you can work on improving it by making affirmations and decisions that contradict this deep-seated belief.

We need to be careful how we perform these rituals, though, so we don't use tools that are counter-productive, as you're hinting at here. We (Ariel and Wes) are not using rituals when we set intentions. Often, the results of our intentions come in ways we don't expect, so we pay attention to signs and small events that might occur and make sure we evaluate them to see if they can be helpful to manifest our intentions. Sometimes, these signs can go unnoticed, if we are not observant.

We need to get to a point where we can distinguish between our own Spirit (the TRUE you), our genuine soul, and the Synthetic Soul from each other. Once we can do that, we know when we're being reactive (subconscious) and consciously active (using our conscious mind). Then, we can make better choices and learn how to bypass the reactive mind and start acting from our awake state instead. This makes the negative, reactive thoughts diminish in strength, and we learn to override them. Eventually, they will not bother us like they used to. This comes from our own experiences.

QUESTION 6: Is there any community or location of nature-loving people being built to prepare for the Nibiru catastrophe? Or a society that is independent of the machine kingdom? A safe haven to avoid all this programming and downgrading chemicals? Does such a place exist or at the very least being attempted to be built?

ANSWER: There are people who have built, or are building, communities like what you describe—one such community we know of is Michael Tellinger's "Ubuntu Project" in South Africa, but there are more. Do some research on it, and I think you'll find quite a few. We don't subscribe to a Nibiru catastrophe—we personally don't think that will happen, but there might be other earth changes that will force people to relocate. Also, as you point out, we have the Machine Kingdom (the Singularity) to consider.

If the advancement of the Singularity is successful, there will be no place on the planet that is unaffected. All will be assimilated and incorporated into the new Earth and we can assume that some terraforming will be part of the process. With each cycle of transformation comes changes to our planet, but we would not dwell on this or be afraid. This only serves the purpose that these types of narratives hope to achieve – FEAR. Live your life in the best way that suits you at this moment. Create your own safe haven that gives you joy and fulfillment, in whatever way suits you best. Enjoy your life here and create the life you want that brings you joy, contentment, and peace. THAT is the best antidote to all the programming. Live without fear is what we would recommend.

QUESTION 7: Once we are through the grid, how can we know who to trust?

ANSWER: Trust is something we need to learn how to establish. It comes with self-confidence, increased intuition, and self-trust. Once we get rid of the Synthetic soul (after leaving the Patrix), we get better at these things, but we still need to use discernment. Although the KHAA, in general, is a friendly place, not all star-beings are what we consider “friendly.” When coming away from this experience, this issue will probably be the most difficult barrier for humans to overcome; TRUST. We aren’t likely to trust anyone, are we? How you want to move forward knowing this about yourself is up to you. We all must figure out how to overcome our trauma and there is not one answer that would fit everyone.

QUESTION 8: How do our collective beliefs create and maintain this grid? I mean if we have no idea of a grid then how can we create it? Is this tied in with the idea of thought forms or is it perhaps more along the lines of morphic resonance?

[Also,] I’ve been looking into the Buddhist concept of Tulpa or thought forms, which you’ve discussed in previous videos, and I now think that they are real on this 3D plane too; not just beyond in the BLA. I’m coming to the conclusion now that this concept may be at the core of much of the madness here both in terms of malevolent forms (inadvertently) created by individuals fixating on an idea, and on a much bigger scale in terms of secret societies manipulating populations to create and manifest forms that they can control and use against us. Will you be exploring this topic further in any future videos? (Re Tulpa, the writer and adventurer Alexandra David-Neel in her book ‘Magic and Mystery in Tibet’ talks about learning of Tulpa from the Monks and fixating for weeks till a form materialised. It then quickly took on a force of its own and became malevolent and dangerous and she needed to get help to dematerialise it again)

ANSWER: Regarding the grid, we are researching this topic at the moment. Morphic resonance would be more appropriate where the grid is concerned. The energy of the Earth flows in a torus around the Earth. This torus creates the boundary or magnetosphere that surrounds us like a shield. For those of you who are patrons, we would relate this to a recent discussion about insider information we discovered where this torus was described as a “wheel”. It is our understanding, at this moment, that this is the “grid” which keeps us trapped within this system. The energy that is in motion is our energy which has been collected by a sophisticated network of energy “collectors” composed of many facets such as artificially create humans (often referred to as organic portals, energy vampires, or soulless beings, etc.), sacred geometry and ley line patterns, and unknown technology that we cannot comprehend. We don’t have to know it exists for it to be formed. We are being manipulated to create it. We create many things without being aware of what we are creating. Most of us would be appalled to see the creations we are manifesting! Just as our planet has her own torus or “wheel”, so do we, as individuals have our own wheels. We are wheels within wheels or bubbles within bubbles. These concepts are VERY difficult to describe! We must “break our wheel”, as the insider said. When we break our individual wheel, we can then break the planetary wheel (or break through the grid/torus energy field, using our own terms). As for tulpas, yes. This is in alignment with what we have learned about thoughtforms becoming fully-formed entities which can interact with this realm or even take a human body to enter it. The more of your energy (thoughts!) you give to something, the more you develop it or create it and give it “life” or form. This is how we create what we DO want in this realm, by the way, as well.

Thank you for the reference to the book, which seems very interesting and relevant. The example you bring up regarding creating a thought-form is spot on! The thought-form she created got self-conscious and started feeding off the creator. We’re all consistently doing this. The Overlords don’t even need to do anything else than giving us amnesia, so we forget that we are creator gods. Thus, we create thought-forms all the time, without understanding the power of our thoughts. Some of these thought-forms will then feed off our energy to stay “alive,” and the Overlords can ultimately use that energy to boost the System and to absorb it as an energetic food source.

QUESTION 9: Are you sure that after death, the grid is not just another reflection of the real one, another level of the matrix? Why would “they” let us go that easily?

ANSWER: Trust yourself. Set an intention to go through the Grid that will take you out into the KHAA. Even IF the Overlords would try to trick you, your intentions override that. And it’s not so much that they let us go “easily;” in fact, we are not forced to do anything or go anywhere—everything we do, we agree to do at some level, whether we’re aware of it or not. Still being in this Construct, or in the astral, you have freewill. If you are determined to leave the Patrix, no one is going to forcefully stop you—only you can stop yourself. This is why trickery is such a big part of this Patrix. We humans have learned how to look at things from the Overlords’ perspective, so we fall right into their arms. Once we know the truth, they are powerless. They need to continue keeping us in the dark in order for us to stay trapped, but ultimately, we trap ourselves, if we look at it from an energetic perspective.

We must stop choosing to come back. Once we do, we can leave. That doesn't mean they won't try to convince us to stay, though. Everyone who enters the afterlife is met with interference or "guides". Ignore anyone or anything you might meet. Just leave.

QUESTION 10: He [a friend] says that Mantis beings seeded the Mantises here on Earth, while I say that they are not biological beings at least not the ones various humans have encountered in the background of UFO scenarios and are AI. Could there be some truth into what we are both saying?

ANSWER: Yes, there is truth in both statements. The mantises (insects) here on Earth are created with a Mantis-like star race as a model, just like animals of the cat kingdom are based on star-beings that are cat-like in nature. And you are right in that the mantises in UFO scenarios are not biological like us. They can be a variety of things; some of them can very well be AI, while others are onto-energetics (beings without a physical body), who can shapeshift into anything they like, and some can be screen memories, implanted by military when the military is conducting the abduction (which is happening more often than not).

QUESTION 11: If the conquest of our solar system happened in the KHAA, what made the Namlu'u drop in frequency to be detected by the AIF?

ANSWER: The Namlu'u didn't necessarily drop in frequency—the AIF operated in the same frequency band as the Namlu'u, so they were visible to each other. The dropping in frequency happened after the Invasion, when En.ki and his scientists genetically manipulated our bodies and "created" homo sapiens. Homo sapiens were made to operate in a much denser reality and with limited perceptions (the five senses), and today's homo sapiens sapiens are even more limited.

QUESTION 12: [Do] you know anything about the monster mega bugs that are coming up in the last few years? I have lived mostly in the countryside for example Malibu and have seen bugs I have never seen before. Some of these looked like flying spiders with some symbol on their back; then some mega odd-looking moth, and also something that looked like something between a grasshopper and a locust. That last bug dying for reasons of maybe the environment, not yet acclimated for them, was left by ants and not touched at all, I noticed. Now I'm in Germany [where I see] bumblebees or monster bees that are almost an inch big. None of these bugs looks ... they all look mutant.

Each of these were either too heavy to fly; they were really slow and sometimes I saw them actually dying. My assumption is that ... these bugs will eventually have venom. Is there a chance that these mutants in a couple of years take over once they evolve more and that we are then in great danger, as obviously an anti-venom yet is far off...?

In Germany, there are more ticks than ever; I recorded in my lifetime one tick in me, [but] in [the] last 4 weeks it was about 10. Also, we had cocoons of moth taking over a whole city in east Germany; I saw on tv there were millions of these. The mayor decided against chemicals and they came [and] vacuumed them up. We also have infestation of red lice now that are bringing some new dangerous virus and illness...

ANSWER: Interesting questions. We think the reasons why we see these mutants are at least two-fold: 1) new or altered species are being seeded on the planet—probably by the Overlords, and 2) genetic experiments are continuously being done—particularly in underground facilities—where existing species are crossbred with other existing species. A lot of DNA research is being done, which sometimes creates the most monstrous species—it's like Atlantis revisited. Some of these are then being released on the planet. Therefore, people see the strangest creatures coming up from caves all over the world—these creatures are often genetic experiments, conducted by humans. Why are they doing this? For multiple reasons, probably, but there is evidence pointing towards that they are preparing us for the New World (the Singularity). What kind of species will inhabit the Earth? Which ones will be the most resilient? Which are the weakest that can be discarded or terminated? These might be a few of the questions the Overlords ask themselves...

We want to thank our Patrons with all our heart. You are the ones who make it possible for us to do what we're doing. A big shout-out to our Tier 3 and Tier 4 Patrons; Justin Colberg, Yoko, Gene S., Lori22, Vianne, Ninotchka, Karen Tackett, Cheryl, Alfonso 83, and MCMG.
